The Northwest Collegiate Rugby Conference has named its all-conference 1st and 2nd team.

This was the first season of the NCRC, which included a CPD 2nd team (Central Washington), a 2nd team from British Columbia (UBC), and a 1st team from British Columbia (Simon Frasier) as well as six DI teams from Washington and Oregon.

Oregon State won the league and a seed to the national playoffs with a 7-1 record, just edging out UBC. Eastern Washington center Eric Populus led the league with 79 points, and also led the league with nine tries scored.

He headlines the all-conference team, as voted by coaches and the league commissioner:
