RUGBYMag.com has named its 2010-2011 Men's DI All Americans.

This team of 15 players was selected based on scouting reports, game reports, coach recommendations, and video and in-person analysis from RUGBYMag.com staff.

National DI champions Davenport have three players on the team, in lock Damecus Beach, flanker Ryan Hargraves, and center/flyhalf JP Eloff, who takes outside center in this squad because Bowling Green's Nick Viviani is chosen at flyhalf.

"This is an important list," said RUGBYMag.com Editor-in-Chief Alex Goff. "The programs included in this list have provided players to the USA National Team, and several on this list project to the USA Rugby All American touring side, or have had USA age-grade experience. I think it's highly likely we will see Rocco Mauer and Will Farrell on the USA 7s team in the near future."
